KID MCCOY IS FACING MURDER IN JAIL CELL

Former Famous Prize-Fighter Is Charged with Murder of a Woman on Coast

ALSO SHOT OTHERS

Went on Rampage After Woman's Death, and Terrorized People in Shops

Los Angeles, Aug. 14.—Evidence to be presented to the county grand jury today will completely disprove the story of Norman Selby (Kid McCoy) that Theresa W. Mors, latest of the ex-prize-fighter's heart fancies, killed herself, according to Police Detectives in charge of the case.

Los Angeles, Aug. 14.—Kid McCoy, of the prize ring, whose clever fists brought him fat purses and fighting renown more than a quarter of a century ago, today stands in a jail cell facing the most desperate battle of his career—a fight to free himself of a charge of murdering a woman.

The woman, Mrs. Theresa Mors, divorced wife of a wealthy antique dealer, was found dead early yesterday in the apartment she and McCoy, whose true name is Norman Selby, has occupied for several weeks as "Mr. and Mrs. N. Shields." In her head was a .32 calibre bullet; nearby was an automatic pistol of the same calibre, and a note from McCoy bequeathing all his earthly possessions to his mother.

McCoy's Explanation

When McCoy was arrested several hours later after terrorizing patrons of two fashionable shops and shooting and slightly wounding two persons he was silent for a time but finally talked freely. Mrs. Mors killed herself, he said; the shock and grief "put out his lights" and filled him with an insane rage to kill her husband "who drove her to it," to kill all those who stood in his way and finally to kill himself.

But fate failed from him and his plan to kill himself was lost in the swirl of events.

"I was going to kill myself," he said, explaining the note found in the apartment, "but—I forgot."

Police believe portions of McCoy's story but declare that his suicide version has already received its knockout blow from the "Kid's" own sister, Mrs. Jennie Thomas, who said McCoy came to her home soon after the shooting of Mrs. Mors and burst out with:

"I just had to kill that woman."

Sought Reconciliation

Late last night detectives called at the Thomas home but after conferring with the woman's attorneys, they agreed not to question her further on the understanding that she would tell the complete story of McCoy's visit and confession to District Attorney Keys today.

McCoy admitted that he had called on his sister soon after Mrs. Mors' death but "couldn't remember what I told her or how long I stayed."

He clung to his suicide version of the shooting, telling detectives that Mrs. Mors was driven to despair by her trouble with her former husband, that she suddenly cried out that she "couldn't stand it any longer" and attempted to stab herself to death with a butcher knife. When this failed, he said, she took a pistol from the dresser drawer and fired a bullet through her head before he could stop her.

Police declare, however, that what Mrs. Mors really planned was a reconciliation with her former husband and that McCoy's jealous rage over this pending reconciliation led him to kill her and then go out and kill more.

ANTI-SIGN CAMPAIGN ON

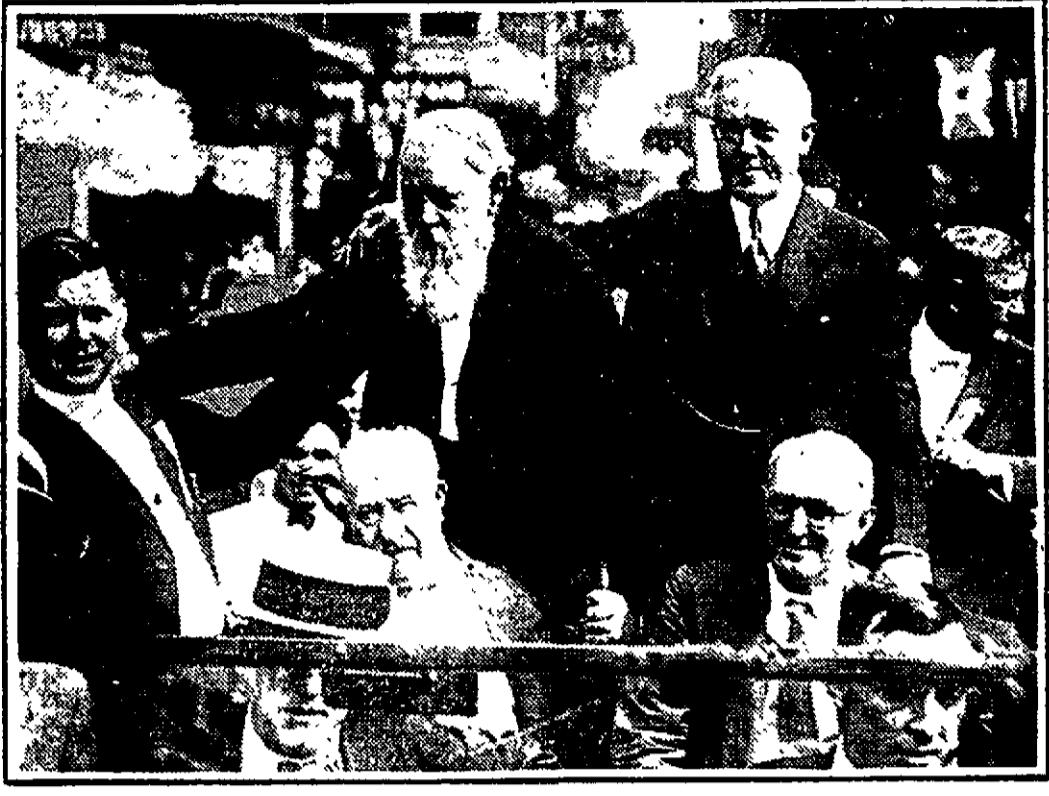

Highway Commission Would Limit Location of Billboards

"No billboards along North Dakota's highways except those which are placed on privately owned property, and a heavy tax on those few."

Such is the attitude of the State Highway Commission toward the unsightly menaces which now deface the State's roadways.

By following out such a policy, securing legislation which will accomplish it, the highway department hopes to ultimately do away with all signboards. "By limiting the possible location of sign boards to privately owned property a large number will be done away with. A heavy tax will force the owners to remove the remaining few," they say.

Large users of signs are even now feeling the pressure of public opinion, it is said, and are voluntarily removing their advertisements of this type. It is to be expected that a few companies will take advantage of the scarcity of billboards thus brought about to seek many more for themselves. It is for this reason that legislation is expected to be necessary before the signs are all removed."

GIRL CHARGED WITH FRAMING MURDER PLOT

Sheriff Investigating Slaying Near Benton Harbor Makes Accusation

BOTH ARE COMPOSED

Benton Harbor, Mich., Aug. 14.—Florence McKinney, the pretty 19-year-old sweetheart of Emil Zupke, today is charged by Sheriff George Bridgeman with being the instigator of a secret plot that resulted in the killing of Cora May Raber.

Bit by bit, according to the sheriff, the Lansing county girl has admitted that she knew her rival fairly well and had refused to sell him from a promise to marry her so that he could wed Miss McKinney. He choked her, he declared, as they were driving through a desolate country near here while Miss McKinney was at the wheel of his car.

Zupke and the girl were arrested Tuesday night after he had admitted that he choked Miss Raber to death and his sweetheart had voluntarily surrendered and confessed that she was with him when the crime was committed.

Zupke related how he choked Miss Raber after she had refused to sell him from a promise to marry her so that he could wed Miss McKinney. He choked her, he declared, as they were driving through a desolate country near here while Miss McKinney was at the wheel of his car.

Zupke and his youthful sweetheart today faced first degree murder charges. The girl, bobbed hair and composed, talks freely, interrupting her story of the slaying with demands for cigarettes. Zupke, a farmer youth who was turned off of his father's home because of his "wild ways" is as composed. Dressed in overalls he spent much time brushing back his oiled locks. Shows the shoes the woman had purchased intending to wear at her wedding with Zupke, he said:

"They don't mean anything to me. When do we eat?"

In his original confession Zupke omitted all mention of Miss McKinney's name. After she had told the sheriff that she witnessed the slaying he admitted that the girl was with him. Now, the sheriff believes that his sweetheart urged him to kill Miss Raber to get her out of the way so that their own planned marriage would not be interfered with.

IMPROVEMENT IN NORTHWEST TOLD COOLIDGE

WHAT EXPERT SAYS

C. T. Jaffray, Head of Soo Lines, Reports on Trip Through North Dakota

FINANCES ARE BETTER

Washington, Aug. 14.—Marked improvement is noted in agricultural conditions in the Northwest due to increased yields and better prices.

C. T. Jaffray, of Minneapolis, head of the Agricultural Credit corporation, told President Coolidge yesterday, says a special dispatch to the Minneapolis Tribune. Mr. Jaffray visited the White House with Eugene Meyer, Jr., managing director of the War Finance corporation, who gave the President some information relative to agricultural conditions in the Central West.

Actual changes for the better, Mr. Jaffray said, had taken place in Minnesota and the Dakotas with prospects for still better times. Speaking of the North Dakota depression of last year Mr. Jaffray said it was not exactly a wheat situation as generally regarded but the lack of a wheat situation. Not only was the wheat price low last year but the yield fell so short of the average as to increase greatly the cost per bushel.

North Dakota Crop Good

With less acreage this year, the President was told, North Dakota will have a much larger production to sell at the higher price. The South Dakota situation was described as somewhat different, due to the fact that South Dakota has a much larger production of corn than of wheat with a crop that is fair this year. The South Dakota wheat crop was also said to be a good average one.

Mr. Jaffray was guarded in his statement as to the South Dakota corn crop, pointing out that danger to this crop, such as unduly early frost, is not past, but he could see no reason for anything but optimism at this time. The credit situation in the Northwest, he said, had eased considerably.

Great care should be exercised this harvest to select seed from fields not badly affected by scab. If some scab is present care should be taken to have the seed which is to be saved for sowing purposes harvested dry, threshed and stored dry, so that the scab fungus may not penetrate the bran layers of the seed, which makes treatment ineffective.

President Coolidge was especially pleased at the message from Mr. Jaffray that diversification has been making rapid strides in the Northwest. Cattle and sheep of the best strains are being brought in by farmers who have seen the mistake of depending too much upon the single crop of wheat.

Mr. Coolidge, it will be recalled, wired in a special message to Congress that aid be given by the government to farmers who stood ready to diversify. The legislation which he desired was incorporated in what was known as the Norbeck-Burton bill. The bill was defeated in the Senate but the Agricultural Credit corporation of which Mr. Jaffray is the head is understood to have undertaken and accomplished much work along the line proposed by that measure.

Mr. Meyer, who has been on the Pacific coast for a month, was able to add much of an encouraging nature to the Jaffray report. He spoke especially of the Central West, however, where he said that the wheat crop is probably above the average and, like in the Northwest, produced or a reduced acreage. The War Finance corporation, of which he is the head, has $25,000,000 loaned in Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota and Montana. And he said reports indicated that agriculture out there had turned the corner.

TWO PIONEERS OF BISMARCK DIE IN WEST

James R. Gage and Mrs. Donnelly Taylor, Both Well Known, Succumb

HERE IN EARLY DAYS

Mr. Gage Came to Bismarck in 1883, and Mrs. Taylor Was Here in 1875

James R. Gage, aged 84, a pioneer Bismarck resident, died in San Diego, California, yesterday at the age of 84 years, according to a telegram received today by the Tribune from Harriett M. Gage, his widow.

Mr. Gage, who had made his home in San Diego for some years, was one of the early settlers and pioneer business men of Bismarck. Born and reared in Pennsylvania, he came to Steele, Kidder county, in 1882 and they came on to Bismarck in 1883, during the boom here. He engaged in the real estate business most of his business career and was also a lawyer, but did not practice. He also was interested in banking.

Mr. Gage occupied extensive interests in Burleigh county, and four or five sections of land are still in his name. Much of his Bismarck property he disposed of.

Mr. Gage left Bismarck about 1905, but had returned several times on visits. He was a veteran of the Civil War, having served with a Pennsylvania unit in the Signal Corps of the Union Army.

Mr. Gage will be notified formally of his nomination at exercises in Memorial Continental Hall tonight and his exposition of principles on which he seeks election will set in motion the campaign planned to take in most parts of the country.

Under the direction of William M. Butler, chairman of the national committee, and James B. Reynolds of Washington, in charge of plans for the ceremony, all arrangements had been completed for the exercises to start at 8 o'clock tonight. Eastern Standard time. Mr. Butler will preside and Frank Mondell, permanent chairman of the national convention, will notify Mr. Coolidge of his nomination. Mr. Coolidge's acceptance and prayer by the Rev. Jason Noble Pierce, pastor of the First Congregational church here, of which the President is a member, will conclude the program.

In 1875 he was married to Joseph Dodge, who was killed a year later by Indians while driving cattle to the Black Hills region, according to friends here, and a few years later he married Frank Donnelly, who was foreman of the Dodge ranch. Later Mr. Donnelly became sheriff of Burleigh county. He died about 1905.

Mr. Taylor had lived in the west at intervals for several years, having gone to Sumner about 1900, and about four years ago she was married to Edward Taylor in San Diego. Mr. Taylor died two years ago. Mrs. Taylor would have been 70 years old Aug. 28, according to Mrs. J. P. Dunn. She was born in southern Minnesota.

Mrs. Mary McLean, who visited Mrs. Taylor in Sumner last spring, said she had just acquired a new house, so that she might be better able to entertain friends, and that the negotiations with reference to this house seemed to make her very nervous.

"Sure enough, old gasser, Nestor sounds quite smart of you to issue the enclosed proclamation which includes I. W. W. with robbers, thieves, burglars, and hooligans. It seems the Wobblies got your goat and by the following proclamation it appears you all ready fear them. And rightly so, you have a reason to fear Wob."

"Thank 'God' we are nearly 500,000 strong now and are growing by leaps and bounds. We line up right here in Minneapolis alone approximately 30 members, mostly migratory workers. It does not surprise us to slander us so cowardly, for we know that every official of the present system is a liar and a low down skunk who must do this miserable work in order to hold his job, for you and the likes of you are mere mouth pieces, mere tools which the Bourgeois uses to pacify, to exploit, to enslave the most suffering peoples, the wage workers. But today thank 'God' 'your God' the worker pays no more attention to you and likes of you than he does to Billy Sunday."

A. R. MURRAY IS VICTIM OF STROKE HERE

Well Known Bismarck Man Dies After Illness Since Sunday Night

A. R. MURRAY—Page one.

Alexander R. Murray, well known in Bismarck, died early this morning of apoplexy, following an illness which began suddenly Sunday night. He was taken at once to a local hospital, becoming unconscious almost at once, and remaining so until he died.

Mr. Murray was born 58 years ago in St. Helens, Ont. In 1885 he came to Minneapolis, and soon after to North Dakota. He lived in various parts of the state until he came to Bismarck in 1908.

On October 3, 1893 he was married to Grace MacGregor. Besides his wife, three children survive him, Mary and Flora, both of Bismarck, and James Murray of San Francisco, who is expected this evening. A sister, Miss Anna Murray, and a brother, D. B. Murray of St. Helens are also living.

Funeral services will be held at the home Friday afternoon, and the body will be shipped to St. Helens Saturday morning.

Mrs. Murray's brother, Dr. M. MacGregor of Fargo, and her cousin, Miss Annie MacGregor of Wheatland are in the city.

IMPROVEMENT IN NORTHWEST TOLD COOLIDGE

C. T. Jaffray, Head of Soo Lines, Reports on Trip Through North Dakota

FINANCES ARE BETTER

Fargo, N. D., Aug. 14.—Wheat root diseases have been very severe this year, according to H. L. Bolley of the North Dakota Agricultural College, who has issued the following statement:

"During the last days of July and the first few days of August, wheat rust has developed quite rapidly, so that in very late fields there will probably be considerable shriveling by rust. Farmers must understand that not all the shriveling that occurs in this coming crop may be attributed to rust.

"The seedling or root diseases have this year been very severe, especially in many durum varieties. From the samples which have been sent to my office from various parts of the state it is apparent that the root and seed diseases known as seab, which is caused by a fungus belonging to the same order as that which causes flax wilt, has again brought about a very considerable amount of damage in some fields.

"Plants die early as if destroyed at the root when afflicted with this disease. When they are pulled up by the root it will be found that the roots are dead just as in the case of flax when it wilts. Some fields of durum show a rather high percentage of these dead or partially dead stools and from these there will come a very considerable amount of lightweight shriveled grain. In some parts of the state a similar root blighting disease known as Helminthosporium has also caused some rotting or dying of the plants.

"These root and seed diseases form one of the chief reasons why farmers should conduct a carefully planned crop rotation so that wheat will not follow wheat on the same lands for a number of years. All seed which is used should be graded to the most plump, hard, bright colored stuff, and before it is sown on the clean land it should be treated thoroughly with the formaldehyde treatment just as one treats corn for smut.

"Great care should be exercised this harvest to select seed from fields not badly affected by seab. If some seab is present care should be taken to have the seed which is to be saved for sowing purposes harvested dry, threshed and stored dry, so that the seab fungus may not penetrate the bran layers of the seed, which makes treatment ineffective."

President Coolidge was especially pleased at the message from Mr. Jaffray that diversification has been making rapid strides in the Northwest. Cattle and sheep of the best strains are being brought in by farmers who have seen the mistake of depending too much upon the single crop of wheat.

Mr. Coolidge, it will be recalled, urged in a special message to Congress that aid be given by the government to farmers who stood ready to diversify. The legislation which he desired was incorporated in what was known as the Norbeck-Burns bill. The bill was defeated in the Senate but the Agricultural Credit Corporation of which Mr. Jaffray is the head is understood to have undertaken and accomplished much work along the line proposed by that measure.

Mr. Jaffray was guarded in his statement as to the South Dakota corn crop, pointing out that danger to this crop, such as unduly early frosts, is not past, but he could say no reason for anything but optimism at this time. The credit situation in the Northwest, he said, had eased considerably.

The legislation which he desired was incorporated in what was known as the Norbeck-Burns bill. The bill was defeated in the Senate but the Agricultural Credit Corporation of which Mr. Jaffray is the head is understood to have undertaken and accomplished much work along the line proposed by that measure.

Mr. Jaffray was guarded in his statement as to the South Dakota corn crop, pointing out that danger to this crop, such as unduly early frosts, is not past, but he could say no reason for anything but optimism at this time. The credit situation in the Northwest, he said, had eased considerably.

President Coolidge was especially pleased at the message from Mr. Jaffray that diversification has been making rapid strides in the Northwest. Cattle and sheep of the best strains are being brought in by farmers who have seen the mistake of depending too much upon the single crop of wheat.

Mr. Coolidge, it will be recalled, urged in a special message to Congress that aid be given by the government to farmers who stood ready to diversify. STATE G.O.P. TO MARK TIME ON THE ELECTORS

Will Await Action of the LaFollette Meeting To Be Held Here Saturday

Fargo, Aug. 14.—Real Republicans, meeting in Fargo today for the purpose of discussing the state political conditions are not expected to take any stand on the presidential electors problem until after the LaFollette workers have held their meeting in Bismarck Saturday, was the opinion expressed at the morning session.

At that time the LaFollette men are expected to decide upon the withdrawal of their four electors, nominated at the presidential primary, from the Republican ticket. If that is done, and opinions were expressed this morning declaring that all indications point to that, a state convention will be called to name an electoral ticket. The session here called by Judge Spaulding, chairman of the state committee, went into the affair this morning at length but no decision was reached.

After a lengthy discussion the conference passed up a motion to nominate five electors.

G. N. Livdahl, of Bismarck made the motion for the new Coolidge electoral committee, but at the suggestion of Twitchell, the conference did not vote on the motion. Mr. Livdahl said he had been informed by a member of the Nonpartisan League, S. S. McDonald that the four LaFollette electors would be withdrawn from the Republican ticket. The only difficulty so far as the leaders are concerned, is getting them nominated. Twitchell declared that the motion should be disregarded. He said the proper procedure was to call a state convention, and that this can be done after the LaFollette people decide what they wish to do.

FOUR GOLFERS FIGHTING FOR STATE TITLE

Tournament in Fargo Narrows Down to the Finals in Today's Play

Fargo, N. D., Aug. 14.—Dr. R. W. Pote of Fargo was out in front of Ramsbottom, nine up, and H. H. Wooley was in front of Burke, yearling of Jamestown, 2 up, at the end of the first 18 holes of play in the semi finals of the N. D. golf championship being played at the Fargo Country Club links today.

Fargo, Aug. 14.—Semi finalists in the North Dakota state golf championship event are Father Patrick Ramsbottom of Fargo, R. W. Pote of Fargo, Bert Nierling of Jamestown, and H. H. Wooley of Fargo.

These four won in the third round yesterday, when Tom Hull, state champion of 1923, went out, and when John Martin of Fargo, James Barrett of Devil's Lake, and Myron Bacon of Grand Forks were eliminated.

36 Grid Today

Today the semi finalists went out on the long 36-hole grid that will result in narrowing the contest to the finalists who will finish the tournament play tomorrow over a 36-hole match.

Yesterday's play, advancing the state golf titlular event to the semi final stage, was featured by some brilliant golf, notably that of Father Ramsbottom who eliminated Ray Anderson, medalist, of Grand Forks, 4 and 2, and that of Dr. R. W. Pote of Fargo, whose par 36 on the upper nine, the best nine of the tournament, was so good that John Martin was put out of the way on the 13th hole.

Hull Eliminated

The upset of the day, however, came during the third round when Bert Nierling of Jamestown downed Tom Hull of Fargo, Nierling's consistent attack that had eliminated Kent Darrow of Fargo during the forenoon, beat too much for the state champion who was out at the 17th hole, 2 down, 1 to go.

To reach the semi finals, Father Ramsbottom defeated Barrett, the central North Dakota champion, 1 up, Barrett giving the Fargos a hard fight all the way. Pote defeated Martin; Nierling defeated Wooley, and Wooley defeated Bacon.

During the second round played in the forenoon, Ramsbottom beat Ray Anderson; Pote defeated Pavak; Nierling defeated K. E. Darow, and Wooley defeated Ed. Cox of Bismarck.

SAYS N. D. CROPS ARE BEST IN FIVE STATES

"I saw crops in Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin and Minnesota, and I didn't see anything to generally equal North Dakota crops," said A. F. Bradley, secretary of the Association of Commerce, who returned last night from Evanston and Aurora, Illinois.

Mr. Bradley ran into storms in Wisconsin and was delayed on the road several days, his car being unable to travel over the muddy roads. Parts of Wisconsin have been hard hit by storms, he said.

Mr. Bradley attended a school for commercial and civic organization secretaries at Evanston and visited relatives in Aurora.

Ellendale Man Veterinary Head

Fargo, N. D., Aug. 14.—Dr. J. V. Miles of Ellendale was elected president of the North Dakota Veterinary Medical Association at the business session which closed the two day convention of the organization late yesterday afternoon. Dr. T. O. Brandenburg of LaFollette was chosen vice-president; Dr. R. S. Anderson of Fargo was reelected secretary; and B. C. Taylor of Hillsboro, is the new treasurer.

Fargo was chosen again for the convention city for some date during July of next year.

HUGE VALUE OF GRAIN CROPS IS ESTIMATED

Total of Wheat, Oats and Barley in Three States Is $155,757,000

Fargo, N. D., Aug. 14.—Three crops, wheat, oats and barley in North Dakota on Aug. 1 were worth $155,757,000 on the basis of prevailing farm prices for grain on that date which is about $3,000,000 greater than the value of all farm crops harvested in the state last year and about $83,000,000 greater than the 1923 farm value of these crops, according to J. G. Diamond, agricultural statistician, here for the U. S. Division of crop and live stock estimates.

While this is a potential one and may vary according as later estimates of these crops may be affected by growing conditions between now and final harvest and as market prices of grain may change, it indicates the trend of the state's agricultural industry this year and in a general way the probability that farm income will be considerably greater

The three crops are valued by Mr. Diamond on the basis of August 1 estimates of production and the average farm prices for grain prevailing in the state on that date.

Aug. 1 Estimates 1924

Crop Estimate Farm Price Value (bu.) (cents) (dollars)

Wheat 91,612,000 115 108,354,000

Oats 76,751,000 42 32,325,000

Barley 33,023,000 55 18,157,000

Total three crops 155,757,000

Taking Aug. 1 estimates of production and prevailing farm prices on that date, Mr. Diamond computes the value of the spring wheat crop in the four states, North Dakota, Montana, South Dakota and Minnesota at $208,085,000 compared with $122,246,000 the Dec. 1 value in 1923, this estimate excluding winter wheat which is produced in all of these states except North Dakota.

CULLING POULTRY

The hens to cull out of your poultry are those that have quit laying and have begun to molt, or shed their feathers. A hen that can't lay more than 100 eggs a year is a money loser.

LEFT-OVER EGGS

If you have boiled or poached eggs left over from breakfast they may be utilized for sandwich fillings, with soup or salads or served with spinach.

Eight Drown When Dance Floor Collapses

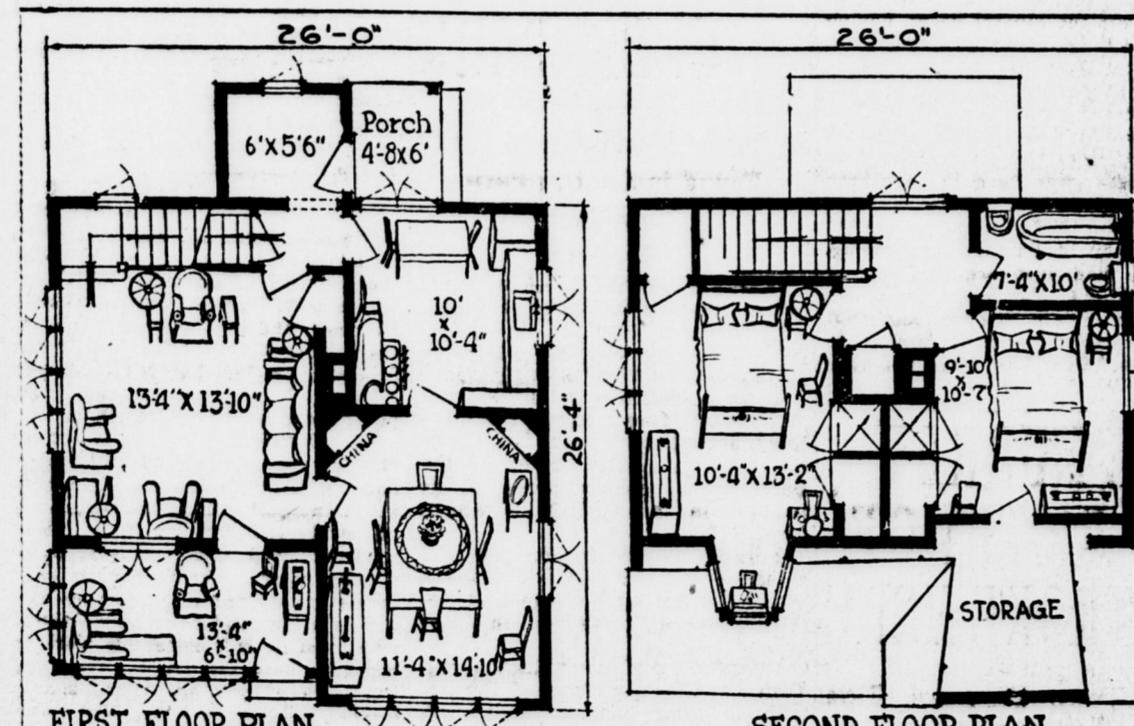

Eight persons were drowned near Buckeye, Okla., when part of a dance pavilion built over the water collapsed. The accident was caused by a beam under the floor breaking when the floor was crowded. Thirty persons fell through the floor into the water. In the picture men in a boat may be seen hunting for bodies.

Much Excitement as "Bears" and "Bulls" Meet

Soaring grain prices have caused great activity in the wheat pit of the Chicago Board of Trade. The picture, taken at the height of the day's trading, shows the pit packed to capacity. The upraised hands are the bidding signals of the operatives.

PLANS SUPPLIED

Detailed plans and specifications of this home may be obtained at low cost by writing to the Home Plan Editor, The Bismarck Tribune.

A porch entirely glazed in, and included under the sweep of the main roof, becomes really a sixth room in this pretty house, and is usable the year round. Casement windows are especially attractive in effecting this result, and when properly fitted with hardware and frames are as practical as double-hung windows. Casements have the advantage of permitting the use of the full opening for air.

Another desirable feature of this plan is the fact that the house has very few openings on the rear, so this side will be helpful in keeping the house comfortable, if it is given the undesirable exposure. In addition to the five rooms and sun porch, there is a large storage room in the attic.

The living room is back of the sun porch. A sunny group of casements, a long inside wall space directly opposite them, and an open stair at the rear of the room furnish an interesting background for furnishing. There is a coat closet which is equally convenient from the front or rear of the house. The door at the rear of the living room leads to a basement, rear entry and kitchen.

The dining room occupies the front, adjoining the sun porch. Its many casements make it unusually pleasant. A pair of corner china closets of simple design increase its attractiveness. Like the rest of the woodwork in the main rooms, these are of oak, and should be stained a warm dark brown.

Housewives will approve the kitchen, small, compact, light, and airy. It is equipped with a built-in dresser and work-table. The sink is located under windows, so that a pleasant view makes the dishwashing a pleasure task.

Each of the two bedrooms is provided with a built-in tray each enclosed by a regular interior door. Besides this each has a large closet, and one of them has two closets. A built-in linen case in the hall, the bathroom and the storage room complete the convenient layout. The house is an excellent choice for the small lot.

YANKEES GO IN LEAD AGAIN

Beat St. Louis Browns in a Double Header

Chicago, Aug. 14.—New York took the lead in the American League race today as a result of a victory over the St. Louis Browns in a double header, while Philadelphia was defeating Detroit in one game of a double header.

Two pitchers' battles were staged between the Yanks and the Browns. Peacock and Wingard both allowed only four hits in the first game, won by New York, 1 to 0. Joe Bush pitched the Yankees' victory in the second contest, over Shucker. The score was 2 to 1.

Detroit won the first game from Philadelphia, 8 to 4, but dropped the second in 11 innings, 8 to 7.

Coveleskie out pitched Zachary for Cleveland, which defeated Washington, 5 to 1. Ehmke hurled a two-hit game, and Boston beat Chicago, 6 to 0, in the first game of a double bill, while in the second Thurston pitched the White Sox to victory, 4 to 1.

In the Nationals, the New York Giants lead was cut to six games when Pittsburgh won, 4 to 2.

The baseball games to be played Friday and Saturday between the St. Louis Browns and the St. Louis Cardinals will be called at 6:15.

POLO STAR

With the race two-thirds over, the St. Louis Browns have stepped to the front in the Johnstone organization.

This year is just one thrill after another in the American League.

The Browns are now having their hitting.

In the first half of the season St. Louis suffered from lack of pitching.

The great Shucker just couldn't hit his stride. Dixie Davis was troubled with his old fault, wildness. Van Gilder was unable to win.

The sensational work of the rookie, Wingard, and the fine showing of Dave Dinnforth saved the club.

With the arrival of warm weather the veterans on the St. Louis staff seem to have struck their stride.

The Browns cannot be overlooked in the home stretch of the American League pennant derby.

A pitching revival has put the club back in the running.

CHARGED WITH HAVING STOLEN PHONOGRAPH

St. Paul, N. D., Aug. 14.—Love of music, unlike love of money, is not very often the root of any evil.

Patrons of Belden school district, though, believe it to be the cause of the evil now threatening John Neu-miller of McIntosh, who was bound over to the district court, at hearing here Monday, to answer to a charge of grand larceny. Neu-miller is charged with stealing a phonograph from the Timber Valley school house in Belden township. He claims to have found the machine along the road.

CALL GAMES HERE AT 6:15

The baseball games to be played Friday and Saturday between the St. Louis Browns and the Washington Nationals will be called at 6:15.

POLO STAR

With the race two-thirds over, the St. Louis Browns have stepped to the front in the Johnsonian organization.

This year is just one thrill after another in the American League. The Browns are now having their inning.

In the first half of the season St. Louis suffered from lack of pitching.

The great Shocker just couldn't hit his stride. Dixie Davis was troubled with his old fault, wildness. Van Gilder was unable to win.

The sensational work of the rookie, Wingard, and the fine showing of Dave Danforth saved the club.

With the arrival of warm weather the veterans on the St. Louis staff seem to have struck their stride.

The Browns cannot be overlooked in the home stretch of the American League pennant derby.

A pitching revival has put the club back in the running.

Beat St. Louis Browns in a Double Header

Chicago, Aug. 14.—New York took the lead in the American League race today as a result of a victory over the St. Louis Browns in a double header, while Philadelphia was defeating Detroit in one game of a double-header.

Two pitchers' battles were staged between the Yanks and the Browns. Fenwick and Winkard both allowed only four hits in the first game, won by New York, 1 to 0. Joe Bush pitched the Yankees' victory in the second contest, over Shocker. The score was 2 to 1.

Detroit won the first game from Philadelphia, 8 to 4, but dropped the second in 11 innings, 8 to 7.

Covaleskie out pitched Zachary for Cleveland, which defeated Washington, 5 to 1. Ehmke hurled a two-hit game, and Boston beat Chicago, 6 to 0, in the first game of a double bill, while in the second Thurston pitched the White Sox to victory, 4 to 1.

In the Nationals, the New York Giants lead was cut to six games when Pittsburgh won, 4 to 2.

STATE G.O.P. TO MARK TIME ON THE ELECTORS

Will Await Action of the LaFollette Meeting To Be Held Here Saturday

Fargo, Aug. 14.—Real Republicans, meeting in Fargo today for the purpose of discussing the state political conditions are not expected to take any stand on the presidential electors problem until after the LaFollette workers have held their meeting in Bismarck Saturday, was the opinion expressed at the morning session.

At that time the LaFollette men are expected to decide upon the withdrawal of their four electors, nominated at the presidential primary, from the Republican ticket. If that is done, and opinions were expressed this morning declaring that all indications point to that, a state convention will be called to name an electoral ticket. The session here called by Judge Spaulding, chairman of the state committee, went into the affair this morning at length but no decision was reached.

After a lengthy discussion the conference passed up a motion to nominate five electors.

G. N. Livdahl, of Bismarck made the motion for the new Coolidge electoral committee, but at the suggestion of Twitchell, the conference did not vote on the motion. Mr. Livdahl said he had been informed by a member of the Nonpartisan League, S. S. McDonald that the four LaFollette electors would be withdrawn from the Republican ticket. The only difficulty so far as the leaders are concerned, is getting them nominated. Twitchell declared that the motion should be disregarded. He said the proper procedure was to call a state convention, and that this can be done after the LaFollette people decide what they wish to do.

FOUR GOLFERS FIGHTING FOR STATE TITLE

Tournament in Fargo Narrows Down to the Finals in Today's Play

Fargo, N. D., Aug. 14.—Dr. R. W. Pote of Fargo was out in front of Ramsbottom, nine up, and H. H. Woodelle was in front of Burke, earing of Jamestown, 2 up, at the end of the first 18 holes of play in the semi-finals of the N. D. golf championship being played at the Fargo Country Club links today.

Fargo, Aug. 14.—Semi finalists in the North Dakota state golf championship event are Father Ramsbottom of Fargo, E. W. Pote of Fargo, Bert Nierling of Jamestown, and H. H. Woodelle of Fargo.

These four won in the third round yesterday, when Tom Hull, state champion of 1923, went out, and when John Martin of Fargo, James Barrett of Devils Lake, and Myron Bacon of Grand Forks were eliminated.

36 Grind Today

Today the semi finalists went out on the long 36-hole grind that will result in narrowing the contest to the finalists who will finish the tournament play tomorrow over a 36-hole match.

Yesterday's play, advancing the state golf titular event to the semi-final stage, was featured by some brilliant golf, notably that of Esther Ramsbottom who eliminated Ray Anderson, medalist, of Grand Forks 4 and 2, and that of Dr. R. W. Pote of Fargo, whose par 36 on the upper nine, the best nine of the tournament, was so good that John Martin was put out of the way on the 13th hole.

Hull Eliminated

The upset of the day, however, came during the third round when Bert Nierling of Jamestown downed Tom Hull of Fargo, Nierling's consistent attack that had eliminated Kent Darow of Fargo during the forenoon, being too much for the state champion, who was out at the 17th hole, 2 down, 1 to go.

To reach the semi finals, Father Ramsbottom defeated Barrett, the central North Dakota champion, 1 up, Barrett giving the Fargese a hard fight all along the way; Pote defeated Ed Martin; Nierling defeated Woodelle, and Woodelle defeated Bacon.

During the second round, played in the forenoon, Ramsbottom beat Ray Anderson; Pote defeated Pavak; Nierling defeated K. E. Darow, and Woodelle defeated Ed. Cox of Bismarck.

SAYS N. D. CROPS ARE BEST IN FIVE STATES

"I saw crops in Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin and Minnesota, and I didn't see anything to generally equal North Dakota crops," said A. F. Bradley, secretary of the Association of Commerce, who returned last night from Evanston and Aurora, Illinois.

Mr. Bradley ran into storms in Wisconsin and was delayed on the road several days, his car being unable to travel over the muddy roads. Parts of Wisconsin have been hard hit by storms, he said.

Mr. Bradley attended a school for commercial and civic organization secretaries at Evanston and visited relatives in Aurora.

Total of Wheat, Oats and Barley in Three States Is $155,757,000

Fargo, N. D., Aug. 14.—Three crops, wheat, oats and barley in North Dakota on Aug. 1 were worth the way the probability that farm income will be considerably greater ing firm prices for grain on that date which value is about $5,000,000 greater than the value of all farm crops harvested in the state last year and about $83,000,000 greater than the 1923 farm value of these crops, according to J. G. Diamond, agricultural statistician, here for the U. S. Division of crop and livestock estimates.

While this valuation, Mr. Diamond states is a potential one and may vary according as later estimates of these crops may be affected by growing conditions between now and final harvest and as market prices of grain may change, it indicates that the trend of the state's agricultural industry this year and in a general sense is favorable.

Mr. Diamond computes the value of the spring wheat crop in the four states, North Dakota,

Montana, South Dakota and Minnesota at $203,085,000 compared with $122,246,000 the Dec. 1 value in 1923, this estimate excluding winter wheat which is produced in all of these states except North Dakota.

Ladd To Speak Here Saturday

Senator E. F. Ladd will speak at the meeting to be held here Saturday, at which time a LaFollette campaign organization will be formed, according to announcement of the LaFollette headquarters in Chicago. D. C. Dorman, regional manager for LaFollette, has indicated that separate LaFollette electors would be formed in the independent column.

Fargo, Aug. 14.—Sen. E. F. Ladd today denied the announcement made from the LaFollette headquarters at Chicago, that he would be the principal speaker at the state convention for Progressives at Bismarck Saturday. He declared he knew nothing about such an arrangement. He also said that he knew nothing about the North Dakota electors situation.

PLANS SUPPLIED

Detailed plans and specifications of this home may be obtained at low cost by writing to the Home Plan Editor, The Bismarck Tribune.

A porch entirely glazed in and included under the eaves of the main roof, becomes really a sixth room in this pretty house and is usable the year round. Eaves windows are especially attractive in effecting this result, and when properly fitted with hardware and frames windows are as practical as double casement. Casements have the advantage of permitting the use of the full opening for air.

Another desirable feature of this plan is the fact that the house has very few openings on the rear, so this will be helpful in keeping the house comfortable, if it is given the undesirable exposure. In addition to the five rooms and sunporch, there is a large storage room in the rear.

The living room is back of the sunporch. A sunny group of casements, a long inside wall space directly opposite them, and an open stair at the rear of the room furnish an interesting background for furnishing. There is a coat closet which is equally convenient from the front or rear of the house. The door at the rear of the living room leads to a basement, rear entry and kitchen. The dining room occupies the front, adjoining the sunporch. Its many casement windows make it unusually bright. A pair of corner china saunter back, closets of simple design increase its value. Each of the two bedrooms is provided with a built-in tray each end. Woodwork in the main rooms, these closed by a regular interior door, are of oak, and should be stained a rich brown. Besides this each has a large closet, and one of them has two closets. A dark wood floor throughout, built-in linen case in the hall, the bathroom and the storage room complete the convenient layout. The house is an excellent choice for the under windows, so that a pleasant small lot.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER

(Established 1873)

ACCEPTANCE SPEECH

The inference might be drawn from the acceptance speech of John W. Davis, the Democratic nominee for the presidency, that he was talking more to LaFollette supporters than to any other class of voters. There was no mincing of words in the address. It was not the speech of "soft hands of Wall street" as some of the opponents of Mr. Davis at the New York convention might have expected.

The Democratic nominee, naturally, places his party in the field as the candidate of the opposition and himself as the leader of the onslaught against the party in power. In doing so he assumes much of the political thunder claimed for LaFollette, a candidate of the forces of discontent with existing conditions. Mr. Davis takes the position that honesty and ability in office alone can right many of the things of which some voters complain. He seeks to place upon the Republican party, including President Coolidge directly, blame for the oil scandals. Said Mr. Davis: "I charge the Republican party with corruption in administration; with favoritism to privileged classes in legislation. I charge it also with division in council and impotence in action."

Throughout Mr. Davis' speech there is strong denunciation of the Republican party and its leaders. The character of the speech of Mr. Davis is such that it presages a campaign which is likely to rob Senator LaFollette of the hope his supporters felt when Mr. Davis was nominated, that he, too, could be charged with being a candidate of the interests.

The plain of campaign indicated by Dr. Davis emphasizes the issues between the Republican and Democratic parties.

It will have the effect of making the main show the fight between Coolidge and Davis, with LaFollette on the sidelines thundering challenges at both.

PRIVATE OPINION PUBLISHED

For some years past it has been part of the writer's daily labor to at least "scan" four or five dozens of the country's newspapers and it can be truthfully said that no event since the breaking out of the World War has received half the attention of readers that the Leopold-Loeb case at Chicago is now receiving.

Most of the papers are receiving "cards" of individual opinion by the bushel and the variety of opinion is very interesting.

Herewith, some of the more striking opinions are given, that this paper's readers may see how they fit with theirs:

Cleveland—"Leopold and Loeb are mere boys, without mental, physical or moral maturity, and their youth should save them from the noose. They should be incarcerated until their maturity shows what they really are and their degree of guilt. Tests and alienists merely discover the progressing, not the mature and full responsibility."

Los Angeles—"I'm against capital punishment. Give them life sentences, and hang the judge who releases them later on."

Baltimore—"Present day Society wilfully promotes 'thrills' in the young. Youthful 'thrill,' like fire, is a good servant but a bad master, and when the thrilling gets away from Society, she's a hypocrite and a brute to start a backfire of legal murder."

Memphis—"The Constitution should be amended to permit punishment exactly as the murder was committed—the blows with the chisel, the strangling and all the other brutality. Give would-be murderers to understand that they'll get exactly what they give, and you'll have more mercy in murders."

Seattle—"Guilty beyond doubt, it would be a national calamity not to hang these murderers. What this country needs, to restore fast dying confidence in American justice and keep people from lynchings and Ku Klux, is a strong demonstration that the rich cannot get off by buying alienists and legal red tape. Millions of people are now saying to themselves 'Look at Thaw'!"

Houston—"Alienists make out these boys to be 'crazy geniuses,' intellectually remarkable. Don't hang them. The great in music, invention, medicine, literature and war have often been 'crazy geniuses.' No telling what these 'geniuses' might finally contribute to human progress, even in prison."

Cincinnati—"No Christian nation believing in Jesus Christ can take a human life, on any grounds. The 'Eye-for-an-Eye' law belongs in the world of brutes. We'll get Leopolds and Loebes just so long as our laws permit unlimited freedom to raise children as millionaires see fit."

"That premeditated murder was the only 'thrill' left to these Chicago boys and was a natural, legitimate consequence, and life imprisonment is enough for the victims of it."

WET

The wettest spot on earth is the island of Kauai, Hawaii, a meteorologist claims. There, on a mountain summit, 455 inches of rain falls in the average year. More than an inch a day.

In other districts, farmers are praying for relief from drought. Nature is uneven in her distribution. She runs to violent contrasts—swamp or desert, beauty or ugliness. It is as if parts of the earth were unfinished, other sections given more than their share.

This system of uneven distribution seems to be a natural law. People have either too much money, health and happiness—or not enough.

CO-OP

Denmark continues as the shining example of what can be accomplished by co-operative societies. Some of the largest industrial and marketing concerns over there are co-ops.

A survey discloses that one of the most striking effects of these banding-together movements is a high standard in the quality of product.

People do better work when they have a voice in the management. Still better, when they have a share of ownership.

Editorial Review

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are given in the order in which our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

RIFTS IN THE LUTE

The third party, that isn't a third party, is a singular mish-mash, as Hugh Latimer and Mayor Gaynor used to say, of incongruous elements artificially and temporarily held together. There is such a play of cross-purposes among them; there are such alternate strains of opportunism and fanaticism, of present and opposed ultimate object in it, that only the name "progressive," so ironical in view of Mr. LaFollette's attitude in 1912, unites this motley company. Republicans like Senator Ladd and Senator Frazier of North Dakota, who cling to Mr. LaFollette and yet remain, or say they remain, in the Republican fold; a Democratic Senator like Mr. Wheeler, who takes the "progressive" nomination for Vice President yet works for the reelection of his Democratic colleague, Senator Walsh, and for the Montana Democratic ticket, add new windings to the political maze.

Many inconsistencies and complications must arise in many States out of this curious and essentially insincere situation. The Badger Boss has too many strings to his bow. In Mr. Wheeler's own State an incident trivial enough in itself, is not without instruction to students of this rambling coalition. Mr. Dewey Dorman has been appointed the Western Administrator of Mr. LaFollette's political fortunes. The Honorable "Sam" Teagarden, a name to resound for ages, swims into our ken as "a probable candidate for United States Senator on the ticket of the LaFollette Progressive Party of Montana." Now wrath is directed against the wretched, rash, intruding Dorman, who invaded Montana, according to the Honorable "Sam" Teagarden, "at the urging of Senator Walsh, to add the state of the reward of Mr. Wheeler's ambitionality. The Montana LaFollette Progressive Party takes a queer remedy for its grievances. To punish Mr. Wheeler for abandoning a Democratic candidate for Senator, the young party is trying to substitute the name of the Democratic nominee for Vice President as Mr. LaFollette's associate. Representative Nelson, Mr. LaFollette's national campaign manager, disowns the too independent anti-Wheeler, anti-Dorman "progressives."

The Montana "rw" is probably the work of Senator T. J. Walsh, which is the reward of Mr. Wheeler's ambitionality. The Montana LaFollette Progressive Party takes a queer remedy for its grievances. To punish Mr. Wheeler for abandoning a Democratic candidate for Senator, the young party is trying to substitute the name of the Democratic nominee for Vice President as Mr. LaFollette's associate. The game began. Nick had just started to build on fives, when suddenly Mister Rhino began to shake and wiggle all over. "There! I'm itchy again. Will someone please take that brush and scratch my back?"

"Certainly," said Weeny obligingly, reaching for the brush with his trunk and giving Mister Rhino's back a good hard rub or two.

"Me, oh, my! That's grand!" smiled Mister Rhino. "Thank you! Did you say you played casino?"

"Just a little—not so very much," said Weeny.

So the game began.

Nick had just started to build on fives, when suddenly Mister Rhino began to shake and wiggle again. "There goes my back again!" he declared. "It's as itchy as a hundred mosquito bites. Will someone please scratch it for me?"

Nick scratched it this time and the game went on.

Nancy had just made a sweep big and little casino when Mister Rhino jumped up again. "Who'll scratch my back again?" he asked, scratching harder than ever.

"Sam," is this casino or a backscratching party?" demanded Weeny.

"Why's that only three times and you said 50?" said Mister Rhino.

"Did it?" exclaimed Weeny in surprise.

"Well, I said too much, I guess. I forgot to tell you that the baby's sick and mother's away and the cook left. I think I'll have to go home."

And that was the end of that visit.

"All right," said Nick and Nancy. They were having a wonderful time on their vacation and were willing to go any place at all that Weeny suggested.

"Who's there?" called Mister Rhino when Weeny knocked on his door with his trunk.

"Company," called Weeny.

"Well, I can't let you in. I'm taking a bath," said Mister Rhino.

"All right," said Weeny. "We're not on your doorstep," said Weeny.

"Oh, I'm not in my house. My bath-tub is in my front yard," said Mister Rhino. "Here I am," and he appeared, a popular wet right out of a big mud puddle.

"Goodness!" said Weeny.

"Why, you're as muddy as a potato, Mister Rhino. That's a funny way to take a bath."

"Oh, but it feels so good," said Mister Rhino. "And it makes my back stop itching. It's as itchy as a mosquito bite all over."

"We'll scratch your back 40 times a day if you'll just let us stay a while," said Weeny eagerly.

"Make it 50 and I'll say it's a bargain," said Mister Rhino.

"All right," said Weeny. "Get down, Twins, and be careful of my satchel."

"Just hang it on my nose and I'll take it in for you," said Mister Rhino cordially.

So Nick took the satchel on the horn on Mister Rhino's nose and they all went into the house.

"Do you play casino?" asked Mister Rhino when they got inside.

"We do," said Nancy and Nick, "Old Maid," too."

But before Weeny could say whether he played casino or not,

A wise bachelor never takes a girl out on a moonlit night or pokes his finger into an electric fan.

Practicing on a saxophone is dangerous. You are liable to learn to play it.

Some towns are so lucky. In New Orleans, a robber, trying to get away, fell and broke his leg.

"We do," said Nancy and Nick, "Old Maid," too."

But before Weeny could say whether he played casino or not,

Nothing Else But—

ADVENTURES IN DREAMLAND

By Albert Apple

The Brownies, delightful creatures of fairyland, live though Palmer Cox, who created them, died recently at his home in Quebec.

Palmer Cox will be forgotten. But the Brownies will not. They may be eclipsed at times by new fairies, yet their popularity will revive and continue for generations, maybe centuries.

No man is any greater than his works. Few are as great.

The fiction people of fairyland are well nigh imperishable. Quite naturally. They represent life where all is a round of pleasure, with few cares. Their atmosphere is one of good fortune and happiness. These are the things people want—the things that are rare in our humdrum mechanical civilization and which, when they do come to us, are brief, and fleeting like the sweet aroma of forests wafted to the tired, dusty traveler on a train as he longingly watches through the open car window.

We are not quite sure what things are like in the Hereafter. But surely, it will be a place abounding in delightful creatures like Old Mother Goose, Santa Claus, the Brownies, Tom Sawyer (for he was almost a fairy), the Wonderful Wizard of Oz, Jack Daw, Hansel and Gretel, Jack the Giant Killer, Water Babies and all the other mystic people who thrill the imagination of all children under 90.

It is good that, in our matter-of-fact world of alarm clocks, sordid scandals, labor strife, tight shoes, thin wallets and rules and regulations, we have the fairyland of fiction with its romantic adventures.

Life would be dull and drab without the mystic creatures, shadowy phantoms, the things that dreams are made of. That harsh and merciless taskmaster, the efficiency expert, is forever pranting that we are not practical enough. Ah! we are too practical, and that is why life at times becomes monotonous.

We do not dream enough. For, after all, we ourselves are dream creatures. We rise from the dust, have a brief and bewildering kaleidoscopic experience called life . . . then vanish into the dreamland from which we came.

In sleep with its dreams and in fairy tales only do we find life as we yearn for it, life as it could be, should be.

At times we envy the inventor of such devices of human enslavement as the steam engine, the wheel, the dynamo and the factory. But possibly greater are the achievements of the whimsical, kindly brains that created Santa Claus, Old Mother Goose, the Brownies, Alice in Wonderland and the other lovable folk of the World of Make Believe.

FABLES ON HEALTH

WATCH YOUR WEIGHT

"Look out for overweight," Mr. Jones' physical adviser warned him, when Mr. Jones was reaching middle age.

Split skirts are appearing along the avenue again.

Bulky knots of rolled, silken hose are to be seen in the skirt gap as a modish damsel passes.

The first split skirt I saw was years ago in Lafayette, Ind. It was during a period when long, tight skirts were being worn. The skirt was split to the knee. What a shock—and then disappointment it created. It was worn on the street by a female impersonator, who was on a local vaudeville bill.

The nearest these youthless men come to activity is keeping an alert eye for the changing, frivolous girls who accompany them.

Within a week it was impossible to dance in comfort, but the club was packed. People, who swore on leaving, made reservations the following day.

While New Yorkers are rushing by the trainload to the cities and show places of the west, the westerners are coming to New York to spend their vacations.

It's an uneven exchange, however, with New York getting far more visitors than she sends.

This city is the world's greatest summer resort.

School teachers, clerks, students and vacationing stenographers make up a large part of the sightseeing influx.

SIMPLER SHOE STYLES DECREED BY FASHION

FANCY SHOES ARE GOING OUT OF STYLE. HERE ARE SOME OF THE PLAINER VARIETIES WHICH ARE COMING BACK TO FAVOR.

BY MARIAN HALE

NEA Service Writer

New York, Aug. 14. You might as well start in now and wear out all your pumps with the fancy openwork sections and the designs in fancy leather.

For style authorities say we are going to revert to the plainer of shoe styles, and that the oxford, long despised, is to be with us again.

This may be part of the propaganda to force gowns to be more elaborate. Recently we have worn fancy shoes, largely because dresses were very plain and simple. Any elaboration could only come in the foot wear because hats and dresses would have none of it.

With plainer pumps there is also to be a return to more conservative hose. The burnt orange and flesh tints that have been so common will give way to gun metal, brown and very sheer black.

No Exaggeration

The vamp is neither long nor short. The whole idea is to keep the foot in proportion to the body. Heels on oxfords may be low or a modified Spanish, and those on pumps may be low or French, but there are no exaggerated high heels, or extremely curved ones.

Show dealers are going to inaugurate a campaign for appropriateness in shoes. They hope to impress upon women the desirability of keeping satin and fabric models strictly for evening or dress wear and to make kid or patent leather the only correct thing for street.

For style authorities say we are going to revert to the plainest of shoe styles, and that the oxford, long despised, is to be with us again.

This may be part of the propaganda to force gowns to be more elaborate. Recently we have worn fancy shoes largely because dresses were so very plain and simple. Any elaboration could only come in the footwear because hats and dresses would have none of it.

With plainer pumps there is also to be a return to more conservative hosiery. The burnt orange and flesh tints that have been so common will

More Subdued

With elaborate gowns, however, footwear must be subdued. Therefore for we find the tailored strapped or buttoned oxford of kid for wear with tailored costumes and the opera, colonial, or the one-strap pump for dress wear.

Suede is said to be less fashionable than it has been, but soft kid is coming to the front as the most popular leather.

It is liked not only in brown and black, but in bronze and the beige tones.

With plainer pumps there is also to be a return to more conservative hosiery. The burnt orange and flesh tints that have been so common will give way to gun metal, brown and very sheer black.

No Exaggeration

The vamp is neither long nor short. The whole idea is to keep the foot in proportion to the body. Heels on Oxford pumps may be low or a modified Spanish, and those on pumps may be low or French, but there are no exaggerated high heels, or extremely curved ones.

Shoe dealers are going to inaugurate a campaign for appropriateness in shoes. They hope to impress upon women the desirability of keeping suit and fabric models strictly for evening or dress wear and to make kid or patent leather the only correct thing for street.

ACCEPTANCE SPEECH

The inference might be drawn from the acceptance speech of John W. Davis, the Democratic nominee for the presidency, that he was talking more to LaFollette supporters than to any other class of voters. There was no mincing of words in the address. It was not the speech of "soft hands of Wall street" as some of the opponents of Mr. Davis at the New York convention might have expected.

The Democratic nominee, naturally, places his party in the field as the candidate of the opposition and himself as the leader of the onslaught against the party in power. In doing so he assumes much of the political thunder claimed for LaFollette, a candidate of the forces of discontent with existing conditions. Mr. Davis takes the position that honesty and ability in office alone can right many of the things of which some voters complain. He seeks to place upon the Republican party, including President Coolidge directly, blame for the oil scandals. Said Mr. Davis: "I charge the Republican party with corruption in administration; with favoritism to privileged classes in legislation. I charge it also with division in council and impotence in action."

Throughout Mr. Davis' speech there is strong denunciation of the Republican party and its leaders. The character of the speech of Mr. Davis is such that it presages a campaign which is likely to rob Senator LaFollette of the hope his supporters felt when Mr. Davis was nominated, that he, too, could be charged with being a candidate of the interests. The plain of campaign indicated by Dr. Davis emphasizes the issues between the Republican and Democratic parties.

It will have the effect of making the main show the fight between Coolidge and Davis, with LaFollette on the sidelines thundering challenges at both.

PRIVATE OPINION PUBLISHED

For some years past it has been part of the writer's daily labor to at least "scan" four or five dozens of the country's newspapers and it can be truthfully said that no event since the breaking out of the World War has received half the attention of readers that the Leopold-Loeb case at Chicago is now receiving.

Most of the papers are receiving "cards" of individual opinion by the bushel and the variety of opinion is very interesting.

Herewith, some of the more striking opinions are given, that this paper's readers may see how they fit with theirs.

Cleveland—"Leopold and Loeb are mere boys, without mental, physical or moral maturity, and their youth should save them from the noose. They should be incarcerated until their maturity shows what they really are and their degree of guilt. Tests and alienists merely discover the progress, not the mature and full responsibility."

Los Angeles—"I'm against capital punishment. Give them life sentences, and hang the judge who releases them later on."

Baltimore—"Present day Society wilfully promotes 'thrills' in the young. Youthful 'thrill' like fire, is a good servant but a bad master, and when the thrilling gets away from Society, she's a hypocrite and a brute to start a back-tire of legal murder."

Memphis—"The Constitution should be amended to permit a punishment exactly as the murder was committed—the blows with the chisel, the strangling and all the other brutality. Give would-be murderers to understand that they'll get exactly what they give, and you'll have more mercy in murders."

Seattle—"Guilty beyond doubt, it would be a national calamity not to hang these murderers. What this country needs, to restore fast dying confidence in American justice and keep people from lynchings and Ku Klux, is a strong demonstration that the rich cannot get off by buying alienists, lawyers and legal red tape. Millions of people are now saying to themselves 'Look at Thaw!'"

Houston—"Alienists make out these boys to be 'crazy geniuses' intellectually remarkable. Don't hang them. They are great in music, invention, medicine, literature and war have often been 'crazy geniuses.' No telling what these 'geniuses' might finally contribute to human progress, even in prison."

Cincinnati—"No Christian nation believing in Jesus Christ can take a human life, on any grounds. The 'Eye-for-an-Eye' law belongs in the world of brutes. We'll get Leopolds and Loeb's just so long as our laws permit unlimited for... to raise children as millionaires see fit."

"That premeditated murder was the only 'thrill' left to these Chicago boys and was a natural legitimate consequence, and life imprisonment is enough for the victims of it."

WET

The wettest spot on earth is the island of Kauai, Hawaii, a meteorologist claims. There, on a mountain summit, 455 inches of rain falls in the average year. More than an inch a day.

In other districts, farmers are praying for relief from drought. Nature is uneven in her distribution. She runs to violent contrasts—swamp or desert, beauty or ugliness. It is as if parts of the earth were unfinished, other sections given more than their share.

This system of uneven distribution seems to be a natural law. People have either too much money, health and happiness—or not enough.

CO-OP

Denmark continues as the shining example of what can be accomplished by co-operative societies. Some of the largest industrial and marketing concerns over there are co-ops.

A survey discloses that one of the most striking effects of these banding-together movements is a high standard in the quality of product.

People do better work when they have a voice in the management. Still better, when they have a share of ownership.

Editorial Review

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have with which to compare the various issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

RIFTS IN THE LUTE

The third party, that isn't a third party, is a singular mish-mash, as Hugh Latimer and Mayor Gaylor used to say, of incongruous elements artificially and temporarily held together. There is such a play of cross-purposes among them, they are such alternate strains of opportunism and fanaticism, of present and opposed ultimate object in it, that only the name "progressive," so ironical in view of Mr. LaFollette's attitude in 1912, unites this motley company. Republicans like Senator Ladd and Senator Frazier of North Dakota, who cling to Mr. LaFollette and yet remain, or say they remain, in the Republican fold; a Democratic Senator like Mr. Wheeler, who takes the "progressive" nomination for Vice President yet works for the re-election of his Democratic colleague, Senator Walsh, and for the Montana Democratic ticket, add new windings to the political maze.

Many inconsistencies and complications must arise in many States out of this curious and essentially unstable situation. The Badger Boss has too many strings to his bow. In Mr. Wheeler's own State an incident trivial enough in itself, is not without instruction to students of this rambling coalition. Mr. Dewey Dorman has been appointed the Western Administrator of Mr. LaFollette's political fortunes. The Honorable "Sam" Teagarden, a name to resound for ages, swims into our ken as a "probable candidate for United States Senator on the ticket of the LaFollette Progressive Party of Montana." Now wrath is directed against the wretched, rash, intruding Dorman, who invaded Montana, according to the Honorable "Sam" Teagarden, "at the urge of Senator Wheeler" to aid the candidacy of Senator T. J. Walsh. Such is the reward of Mr. Wheeler's ambidexterity. The Montana LaFollette Progressive Party takes a queer remedy for its grievances. To punish Mr. Wheeler for abandoning a Democratic candidate for Senator, the young party is trying to substitute the name of the Democratic nominee for Vice President as Mr. LaFollette's associate. Representative Nelson, Mr. LaFollette's national campaign manager, disowns the too independent anti-Wheeler, anti-Dorman "progressives." The Montana crew is probably the work of some local organization which has nothing to do with the national LaFollette campaign."

The Montana situation has been muddled by "people who have nothing to do with our work." Such muddling is inevitable in the circumstances. It isn't and won't be confined to Montana. Other "progressive" foundations will be left on Mr. Nelson's doorstep.

Nick had just started to build on lives when suddenly Mister Rhino began to shake and wiggle again. "There goes my back again!" he declared. "It's us itchy as a hundred mosquito bites. Will someone please scratch it for me?"

Nick scratched it this time and the game went on.

Nancy had just made a sweep and got big and little casino when Mister Rhino jumped up again. "Who'll scratch my back again?" he asked on Mr. Nelson's doorstep.

And that was the end of that visit.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BABTON

"Let's go and see Mister Rhino," said Weeny after they had left Aunt Hannah Hippo's house.
"All right," said Nick and Nancy. They were having a wonderful time on their vacation and were willing to go to any place at all that Weeny suggested.
"Who's there?" called Mister Rhino when Weeny knocked on his door with his trunk.
"Well, I can't let you in. I'm taking a bath," said Mister Rhino.
"All right—well wait on your doorstep," said Weeny. "We're not in any hurry."
"Oh, I'm not in my house. My bath-tub's in my front yard," said Mister Rhino. "Here I am," and he appeared dripping wet right out of a big mud puddle.

"Goodness!" said Weeny. "Why, you're as muddy as a potato, Mister Rhino. That's a funny way to take a bath."

"Oh, but it feels so good," said Mister Rhino. "And it makes my back stop itching. It's so itchy as a mosquito bite all over."

"We'll scratch your back 40 times a day if you'll just let us stay a while," said Weeny eagerly.

"Make it 50 and I'll say it's a bargain," said Mister Rhino.

"All right," said Weeny. "Get down, Twins, and be careful of my satchel."

"Just hang it on my nose and I'll take it in for you," said Mister Rhino cordially.

So Nick hung the satchel on the horn on Mister Rhino's nose and they all went into the house.

"Do you play casino?" asked Mister Rhino when they got inside.

"We do," said Nancy and Nick, and "Old Maid," too.

But, before Weeny could say whether he played casino or not

What is so rare as a breeze in August?

Nothing Else But—

New York, Aug. 14.—Men with hard eyes, faltering foot-steps, graying hairs, and a tendency to portliness are the cause of the six-by-ten dance floors in the popular late-night supper clubs.

They are consistent habits of the intimate clubs that cater to the night-life, strong. Young men cannot stand the financial strain of this expensive entertainment. Only men of age and years of struggling to attain the pocket full of big bills can peer at the morning's check with its high cover charge and higher charge for charged water with an air of unconcern.

The nearest these youthless men come to activity is keeping an alert eye on the young, frivolous girls who accompany them.

When the orchestra starts playing for the trainload to the cities and show places of the west, the westerners are coming to New York to spend their vacations.

It's an uneven exchange, however, with New York getting far more visitors than she sends.

This city is the world's greatest summer resort. School teachers, clerks, students and vacationing stenographers make up a large part of the sightseeing influx.

ADVENTURES IN DREAMLAND

By Albert Apple

The Brownies, delightful creatures of fairyland, live on though. Palmer Cox, who created them, died recently at his home in Quebec.

Palmer Cox will be forgotten. But the Brownies will not. They may be eclipsed at times by new fairies, yet their popularity will revive and continue for generations, maybe centuries.

No man is any greater than his works. Few are as great.

The fiction people of fairyland are well nigh imperishable. Quite naturally. They represent life where all is a round of pleasure, with few cares. Their atmosphere is one of good fortune and happiness. These are the things people want—the things that are rare in our humdrum mechanical civilization and which, when they do come to us, are brief, and fleeting like the sweet aroma of forests wafted to the tired, dusty traveler on a train as he longingly watches through the open car window.

We are not quite sure what things are like in the Hereafter. But surely it will be a place abounding in delightful creatures like Old Mother Goose, Santa Claus, the Brownies, Tom Sawyer (for he was almost a fairy), the Wonderful Wizard of Oz, Jack Daw, Hansel and Gretel, the Giant Killer, Water Babies and all the other mystic people who thrill the imagination of all children under 90.

It is good that, in our matter-of-fact world of alarm clocks, sordid scandals, labor strife, tight shoes, thin wallets and rules and regulations, we have the fairyland of fiction with its romantic adventures.

Life would be dull and drab without the mystic creatures, shadowy phantoms, the things that dreams are made of. That harsh and merciless taskmaster, the efficiency expert, is forever pranting that we are not practical enough. Ah! we are too practical, and that is why life at times becomes monotonous.

We do not dream enough. For, after all, we ourselves are dream creatures. We rise from the dust, have a brief and bewildering kaleidoscopic experience called life . . . then vanish into the dreamland from which we came.

In sleep with its dreams and in fairy tales only do we find life as we yearn for it, life as it could be, should be.

At times we envy the inventor of such devices of human enslavement as the steam engine, the wheel, the dynamo and the factory. But possibly greater are the achievements of the whimsical, kindly brains that created Santa Claus, Old Mother Goose, the Brownies, Alice in Wonderland and the other lovable folk of the World of Make Believe.

"Look out for overweight," Mr. Jones' physical advisor warned him, when Mr. Jones was reaching middle age.

It is overweight that figures so prominently in insurance risks when men of middle life are considered.

It is far better to depend on such vegetables as lettuce, spinach, tomatoes, fruits of all kinds, carrots and nuts, mackerel and other fat fishes.

Scotland Made Game of Golf National Pastime

Three months before the Pilgrim Fathers left Delftshaven, James VI approved the contract for the first municipal golf links at St. Andrews, Scotland, where a game called "kolf" a cross between golf, hockey and bowling, was played on the ice, within covered courts and even in churchyards. If the Scotch did import the sport they changed it greatly. "Links" for example is the Scotch term referring to rolling close-cropped shore fields which have become the model for all golf courses. "Bunkers" are really cut banks such as are found along a graded country road. Such banks with sand pits are natural to the Scotch shore. St. Andrew's cut banks are now artificially created on golf links wherever golf is played. For many years the original Scotch course consisted of 11 holes, a match being in two rounds, or 22 holes, but in 1764 it was decided to eliminate two holes, so today the standard course is in multiples of nine.—National Geographic.

Poisonous Flower Bulbs

Daffodil bulbs, which superficially resemble onions, have sometimes been eaten for them by mistake and have caused serious poisoning.

A case was reported not long ago in Edinburgh, where a cook took a daffodil bulb for an onion and used it to flavor a stew subsequently eaten by five persons. All were made acutely sick before the end of the meal. All recovered in a few hours and apparently suffered no after effects of the dose. The poisoning is supposed to be due to a principle known as "arsenine," found in the bulbs of daffodils and Jonquils. Persons keeping daffodil bulbs in the house should take care that they are not confused with onions.

MARINE HELD CRYING NEED OF COUNTRY

Congressmen Who Want Abroad Give Opinion on Needs in This Respect

Washington, Aug. 14.—Members of the special house committee investigating the shipping board returned from their inspection tour of European ports firmly convinced that either a permanent shipping policy should be adopted or the shipping board vessels should be withdrawn from the seas immediately. Representative Davis, Democrat, Tennessee, prosecutor of the committee said yesterday before leaving for his home in Tennessee.

The whole organization, Mr. Davis said, is being handicapped by the European idea that the United States ships are in service only temporarily. At every turn on the European trip this problem arose, he declared, adding that owners of docking facilities hesitated to grant leases, capable men declined employment, and shippers hesitated to transfer their business to American lines.

The committee will recommend a policy to maintain an American merchant marine permanently, Mr. Davis stated, explaining, however, that this did not necessarily contemplate it would be operated permanently under the shipping board, but rather only until competent private concerns could take over the lines.

At all of the ports, the representative said the committee found emigrants awaiting transportation to America and some steamship companies were losing heavily by being forced to feed and house many who had purchased tickets. In less than a year ago and the steamship lines had been forced to care for them because they could neither return to their native countries nor enter the United States because of the exhaustion of quotas.

ALL CATTLE ARE TESTED

Tuberculars Are Weeded Out in Barnes County

Valley City, N. D., Aug. 14.—All cattle in Barnes county over three months of age have been tested for tuberculosis and all reactors condemned and shipped out as a result of the tuberculosis eradication campaign started a year ago and completed last week, in the statement of County Agent T. X. Calman of Valley. Fostered the only other county in North Dakota in which all of the cattle have been given tuberculin test.

The records show that 35,584 head were tested and of this number 450 were reactors or 1.26 percent. This percentage of diseased animals is low compared with other areas. The number of herds tested was 2,010, and of this number 224 herds contained reactors, 11 percent of the herds.

One herd of 92 head contained 25 reactors, or 27 percent, and another herd of 70 animals contained 17 reactors, or 24 percent. In nearly every case where a large number of reactors were found in a single herd, the infection could be traced back to some cow that had previously died from tuberculosis.

EXECUTION IS DELAYED UNTIL BABY IS BORN

Brunn, Czechoslovakia, Aug. 14.—The execution of Frau Meria Hanika for the murder of her husband, which was recently delayed until she gave birth to a child, will take place soon, according to an announcement by the authorities. The day after the child was born 20,000 Czech crowns arrived at the prison where Frau Hanika is confined with instructions that the money should be turned over to the infant, a girl, when she reaches the age of 18.
